Phuket, Thailand.

Jo Hueston, director of Restored Beauty Getaways New Zealand, tells me that one of her client's first questions is usually, "Are the surgeons competent?" Because Jo has researched the hospitals, interviewed the doctors and seen the results, she is 100% satisfied that her clients will receive the best care and return happier than when they left.

Jo has an enormous waiting list of patients that can't wait to get onto the plane to Thailand or their chosen destination and get their surgery done followed by a holiday in the sun. What a way to recover, no one around that knows you, room service at your fingertips and you return totally refreshed and looking glamorous! Whether it's a face lift you want, breast implants, or new teeth. You can choose from many options on their website.

Restored Beauty Getaways is the leading medical tourism service agency facilitating the healthcare needs of medical tourism patients seeking all forms of overseas medical procedures. They offer a confidential service to help you realise your dreams – a truly life changing experience. The international private hospitals are among the most advanced and accredited healthcare medical facilities in the world and certified to the international standard. The surgeons and specialists that are recommended have up to 30 years experience and have worked internationally in the UK, Australia, US, Canada, and New Zealand. Each practitioner is fully certified and is a member of the relevant professional bodies.

Why are so many New Zealanders queuing up to do this you may ask yourself? The biggest advantage is the price; generally it is a third of the price offered in New Zealand or Australia. Secondly, it is the opportunity to have a holiday at the same time. The best destinations in the world are offered to accommodate your desired travel requirements.

It almost sounds too good to be true but it's not, it is there and waiting for you to take the step to change your life. If for any reason you change your mind when you arrive, there are no financial penalties from the hospital or surgeon.

Take a moment to review your life and give Jo a call or flick her an email. She will answer any questions and assist you in your choices. ●
